- The purpose of the site visit is to confirm and clarify what was written in the self-study report.
 - - . .
- It is important that we are able to do just that: confirm what was written in the self-study report and willingly clarify and provide examples that demonstrate our compliance, as requested.

It's impossible to know for sure exactly what they will ask. However, we can make some educated guesses about the types of questions that will be common ...

- C
 - "I read in Chapter X that ... can you tell me more about that?"
- A
 - "I see that you've done X. Can you share a different example of how you ..."
- C
 - "It says that the school has ... How have you seen that manifested on campus?"
- T
 - "One of your opportunities for improvement is ... Do you think that's realistic, and how might it be implemented?"

LET'S WORK THROUGH A PRACTICE QUESTION

CA E LEA E LI I G ?

NOW, LET'S DEBRIEF. WHAT DID YOU EXPERIENCE?

E@"6=%F$G", 0$)' %

- Balance the present with the future – remember, this is about continuous improvement – don't focus too much on the past.
- Be inclusive of every person and unit represented in your meeting group.
- Be honest, but avoid "airing dirty laundry"
- Remember, Zoom is tough for everyone. Stay engaged, be mindful of body language and distractions, etc.
